2. Results

2.1 Little Variation Regarding the Most Trusted Professions

As observed in the following table, 7 professions obtain a result above 80%. The five first professions essentially have the same scores as last year. Engineers, a new category, are part of a select group equal to that of teachers. Police officers, however, are down two points compared to last year.

2.2 Should Judges Thank Judge John H. Gomery?

In the group of professions that obtain a level of trust between 80% and 60%, we observe that judges dominate with 78%, an increase of 6 points in comparison with last year. Did judge Gomery play a role in this increase? Bankers are making a comeback, gaining 7%. Church representatives, pollsters and economists rank among the last three.

2.3 Politicians Continue their Downward Spiral.

Among the professions that rank 50% or less, politicians continue their downward spiral, losing 2 points in last place thus widening the gap by 5 points with car salespeople. The lowest score is obtained in Québec, where only 10% trust politicians.

With 50%, senior public servants gained five points since last year. For their part, publicists gained 3 % and are slowly making it back up the hill after a 12-point loss in 2004.

Percentage of Canadians Who Trust Politicians

3. Methodology

This study was conducted by Leger Marketing through telephone interviews among a representative sample of 1,500 English- or French-speaking Canadians, 18 years of age or older.

The interviews were conducted from our Montreal and Winnipeg call centres from February 14 to February 19, 2006. Up to ten call-backs were made in the case of non-response.

Using data from Statistics Canada, the results were weighted according to region, gender and language spoken at home to ensure a sample representative of the entire Canadian adult population. In the end, the maximum margin of error obtained for a sample of 1,500 respondents is $\pm 2.6\%$, 19 times out of 20.
